of the 246 towns in the state. The mi jority of the winner in actual figures not so large as the average "off year but the scope of the Republican victor is much wider. The coalition of the Democrats and Independent Republicans, while not making many individual victories possible, cut down the difference between the two votes. Hanson, Prohibition, and Sulllivan, Socialist, both of Barre, polied less than 500 votes between

With two towns yet to be heard from, Proctor received 42,825; Clement, 26,-185; Hanson, 244; Sullivan, 254, Or this basis, Proctor's majority is 16,142 and his plurality is 16,630. The returns from the two missing towns, Lamenburgh in Essex county and Georgia in Franklin count, are likely to increase the Proctor victory slightly.

Every one of the fourteen counties went strongly for the Republican candidate with the exception of Benning-Rutland City, Barre City, Montpeller Bennington, Colchester and St. Albans City went for Clement.

In Bennington county Clement earried besides the chief town, Dorset, Pownal, and Sunderland; in Chittenden county, Burlington and Colchester; in Essex county, Guildhall and Maidstone: in Frankfin county, Fairfield, St. Albans City and St. Albans Town: in Itutland Co., Rutland City, Castleton, Fair Haven, Wallingford and Wells, in Wash ington county, Barre City, Montnellier and Middlesex; in Windham county, Guilford; in Windsor county, Brid, water.
